Kinnaird Castle, Brechin, Angus Pheasant Shooting 2018/19

Kinnaird Castle lies at the heart of the Southesk Estate between the towns of Brechin and Montrose in the county of Angus, north of Dundee and is inland from the Montrose Basin.

The Shoot

Guests shoot over 10,000 acres of estate and farmland with the focus around Kinnaird Castle and the Park. The Park is surrounded by estate walls and completely private with minimal travelling between drives. Most drives are pegged for 8 guns.

The Estate catches up, breeds and rears its own pheasants with new bloodlines introduced each year. The aim is to produce 25 to 30 days per season ranging in size from 150 to 350 birds per day. Partridges are sourced locally and make up the balance of released game for the shoot.

The parkland terrain suits a wide variety of shooting abilities from the complete beginner to the competent shot. More challenging birds can be presented on the periphery of the park where the topography enables.

A Typical Day

The day would start at around 9.15 with the guns meeting at Kinnaird Castle. A cup of coffee and a bacon roll is served in the Ante Hall to give all a chance to meet the Head Keeper, Sandy Mackintosh, who will give you a quick briefing for the day. Soup is provided at 11 am with lunch served in the Castle around 1pm. Drinks are included with lunch. Additional guests will be charged at £25 plus VAT per head. Tea and coffee are available on a self-service basis after the end of the shoot in the gun room.
